- (a) there is only a limited number of suppliers, contractors or service providers with the capacity to fulfil the specific type of requirement;

Methods of Procurement

Methods of procurement

27. The methods of procurement are divided into 2 categories—

- (a) competitive procurement which comprises of—
 - (i) one-stage procurement for competitive bids or proposals (one-envelope procedure),
 - (ii) one-stage procurement for competitive bids or proposals (two-envelope procedure),

 - (iv) selective procurement, and
 - (v) requests for quotations;
- (b) non-competitive procurement which comprises of—

- (i) sole source solicitation, and
- (ii) direct solicitation.

Guidance in selecting a procurement method

28. When selecting a procurement method, the Chief Procurement Officer and a Procurement Committee shall consider—

- (a) the need to promote open and effective competition throughout the procurement process;
- (b) the value and fiscal risk associated with the procurement;
- (c) whether the benefits of the method outweigh the costs; and
- (d) the circumstances of the market from which purchases would be made.

Division 3

Competitive procurement

Competitive procurement

29. (1) Competitive procurement shall be the preferred or default procurement method for procurements unless the Procurement Committee, with the approval of the Chief Procurement Officer, determines that the procurement may be made using another procurement method.

(2) Where the Procurement Committee does not choose to use competitive procurement then it shall record in writing the reasons and circumstances that justify the use of the non-competitive method of procurement.

(3) When competitive procurement is followed, the Chief Procurement Officer shall invite bids or proposals by publishing an invitation to bid or a request for proposals in the manner prescribed and shall make physical copies of the invitation to bid or request for proposals available for a fee.

One-stage procurement for competitive bids or proposals (one-envelope procedure)

30. For competitive bids or proposals, where the Procurement Committee is of the opinion that it is not essential to evaluate the technical aspect of a bid separately from the financial aspect, it may request that the one-stage procurement procedure be used whereby the bidders or offerors submit bids or proposals in one envelope containing both the technical and the financial bids or proposals.

One-stage procurement for competitive bids or proposals (two-envelope procedure)

31. (1) For competitive bids or proposals, where the Procurement Committee is of the opinion that it is essential to evaluate the technical aspects of a bid or proposal before considering its financial aspect, it may request that the bidder or offeror submit one envelope containing a—

- (a) financial bid or proposal; and
- (b) technical bid or proposal but without a bid or proposal price.

(2) The technical bids or proposals shall be submitted in a sealed envelope with the word 'technical' clearly marked on the envelope and the financial bid or proposal shall be submitted in a sealed envelope with the word 'financial' clearly marked on the envelope and both of these envelopes shall be enclosed together in an outer single envelope.

(3) Bids or proposals that are not submitted strictly in accordance with subsection (1) and (2), shall be non-compliant and shall be rejected by the Chief Procurement Officer.

(4) Bids or proposals submitted according to this section shall be evaluated in 2 phases, the technical bids or proposals shall be opened first and evaluated by the Evaluation Committee and only the bidders or offerors who are technically compliant shall then move to the second stage and have their financial bid or proposal publicly opened and then evaluated by the Evaluation Committee.

(5) The Chief Procurement Officer is required to give notice only to the bidders or offerors who were technically compliant.

Two-stage procurement for competitive proposals

32. (1) In the two-stage procurement for competitive proposals offerors first submit only their technical proposals and the Evaluation Committee shall revise them with the objective of determining the proposals that have a reasonable prospect of satisfying the technical specifications.

(2) Only the offerors who have demonstrated a reasonable prospect of satisfying the technical specifications shall be given a fair opportunity to revise or adjust their technical proposal accordingly to conform to the requirements of the procurement.

(3) Any revision to the proposal documents shall be approved by the Chief Procurement Officer who shall organise and chair a meeting with the Procurement Committee, the Evaluation Committee and the offerors that have demonstrated a reasonable prospect of satisfying the technical specifications.

(4) The objective of the meeting shall be to ensure that all proposals conform to the same technical standard and meet the technical solution by the Procurement Committee.

(5) The Chief Procurement Officer shall ensure that minutes of the meeting are taken and distributed to all persons in attendance and any other person that the Chief Procurement Officer considers relevant.

(6) Where an offeror is unable or unwilling to bring their proposal to an acceptable technical standard the Evaluation Committee shall reject their proposal as technically non-compliant.

(7) In the second stage offerors shall submit revised technical proposals and financial proposals using either the procedure under section 30 or section 31 as determined by the Procurement Committee.

Requests for quotations

33. (1) For small procurements, the Procurement Committee may request written quotations for the procurement of readily available goods, services and works.

(2) A written request for quotations shall be made to no fewer than 3 persons, if it is possible to do so.

(3) A request for quotations may be selective and this occurs when the only persons who are entitled to submit quotations are selected by the Procurement Committee.

(4) Written requests for quotations and the responses thereto may be done by: email, fax, courier, hand-delivery but not telephonically.

(5) The Procurement Committee shall make its best efforts to check prices on the internet and other sources to ensure the reasonableness of quoted prices.

(6) Each supplier is permitted to give only one price quotation which it is not permitted to change after it is submitted and the Procurement Committee shall not engage in negotiations with a supplier with respect to a quotation submitted by the supplier.

(7) The Procurement Committee may reject or cancel requests for quotations if it considers that it is reasonable to do so.

(8) Where a request for quotations is rejected or cancelled, the Government of Anguilla shall not be responsible for any costs or loss associated with the procurement.

(9) The Board may make rules governing the practice and procedure for requests for quotations.

Contents of a written request for quotations

34. A written request for quotations shall include—

- (a) a quotation form;
- (b) a description of what is to be procured;
- (c) if necessary, the contractual terms and conditions applicable to the procurement;
- (d) general instructions, which may include—
 - (i) where, to whom and how the quotation is to be submitted,
 - (ii) the day and time when quotations will close,
 - (iii) a statement that the basis of award of contract will be an award to the responsible person who submits the lowest responsive evaluated quotation,
 - (iv) a statement that the Procurement Committee is not bound to accept the lowest or any quotation submitted, and

- (v) the name, telephone and fax number and email address of the Chairperson of the Procurement Committee who can be contacted in relation to the solicitation, and
- (e) any other information that the Procurement Committee considers necessary.

Division 4

Non-competitive Procurement

Sole source solicitation

35. (1) Sole source solicitation means procuring goods, works or services from a single entity when the estimate of the amount of the contract is the amount for large procurements.

(2) A Procurement Committee may use a sole source solicitation when it is the public's interest to do so and—

- (a) the cost of using a competitive procurement method would be out of proportion to the value of the benefits likely to be obtained; or
- (b) given the circumstances of the case it would be impractical to use the competitive method.

(3) In addition to demonstrating the grounds in subsection (2), the Procurement Committee shall justify the use of sole source solicitation using at least one of the following grounds—

- (a) the subject matter of the procurement is available only from a particular supplier and no reasonable alternative or substitute exists, and the use of any other procurement method would therefore not be possible;
- (b) the procurement is of a confidential nature;
- (c) the procurement is for the purposes of research, experiment, study or development;
- (d) a particular contractor has exclusive or proprietary rights in respect of goods, services or works;
- (e) standardising equipment or spare parts is available only from a specific source, and the Procurement Committee has purchased goods, equipment or technology from that source, and additional supply is required for reasons of uniformity;
- (f) there is follow-on procurement, where a contractor has already provided goods, services or works and additional goods, services or works of a similar nature are required to complete the procurement requirements;

- (g) for reasons of urgency brought about by events unforeseen by the Procurement Committee, the products or services could not be obtained in time by means of the open competitive bid process;
- (h) the Procurement Committee and the Board agree that given the context of the subject of the procurement that this is the best method; or
- (i) international or regional agreements specify that goods or services must be procured from a specific source.

(4) A Procurement Committee that wishes to procure from a sole source provider shall receive the written approval of the Board to do so and shall provide the Board with—

(2) A Procurement Committee may use direct solicitation when it is in the public's interest to do so and—

- (a) the cost of using a competitive procurement method would be out of proportion to the value of the benefits likely to be obtained; or
- (b) given the circumstances of the case it would be impractical to use the competitive method.

(3) In addition to demonstrating the grounds in subsection (2), the Procurement Committee shall demonstrate the use of direct solicitation using at least one of the following grounds—

- (a) for the purchase of goods off-the-shelf, for the supply of services or for the provision of works each sourced from within Anguilla where the value of the goods, services or works is less than $15,000;

- (b) where there is an existing contract for goods, works or services and the Procurement Committee wishes to have that contract extended either on the same terms and conditions or extended for additional goods, works or services of a similar nature;
- (c) in response to natural disasters or other emergency situations; or
- (d) the purchase of goods, services or works is on an as-required basis.

(4) Where a contract is necessary, the Procurement Committee shall negotiate the best contractual terms with the provider of the goods, works or services and prepare an evaluation report for the Board.

(5) The Chief Procurement Officer retains the discretion to investigate and audit direct solicitations made by the Procurement Committee and make recommendations to the Board about the findings.

Rules

37. The Board may make rules governing the procedure for sole source solicitations and direct solicitations.
